OFFICERS WHO ARE INVISIBLE AT NIGHT

Mrs. H. D. Fish entertained the members of the Westminster guild of the Third Presbyterian church Thursday afternoon at her home in Jefferson street. The members present were: Mrs. C. S. Alexander, Mrs. Frank Luthey, Mrs. T. C. Roe, Mrs. George McKee, Mrs. Charles Freel, Mrs. Mary Norwood, Miss Eleanor Bartell and Mrs. Fish, Mrs. Horace Potter will entertain the ladies next Thursday afternoon at her home in Highland Park. Of all the strange inventions which this war has inspired, none is more strange than the uniforms which are shown in this picture. At night, in the pitchy darkness of the trenches, the officers don these phantom uniforms and walk about in the open near the trenches to inspect the lines. This they can do without fear on account of the dress which makes them practically invisible, because of the black material of which they are made. Two holes, through which the wearer can see, and another hole through which he can breathe are cut into the hood pare of the uniform.
